Changing the Way We Learn at BERJAYA UCH through ‘CourseNetworking’

‘CourseNetworking, LLC (CN)’ is an academic social networking site that offers online courses in a globally accessible learning environment. Patterned after networking sites like Facebook and Twitter, targeting youth ages 18-30, for whom this method of learning is second nature. The ‘CourseNetworking, LLC (CN)’ also offers integrated Learning Management System (LMS) and Massive Open Online Course (MOOC) which will enhance teaching and learning in BERJAYA University College of Hospitality (BERJAYA UCH). Through MOOC, instructors and learners alike may be located anywhere in the world, but are able to exchange ideas which are universal and shared among other learners with common interests.

BERJAYA UCH is the first University College to utilise CN and the only CN-Satellite Campus in Malaysia. As part of the resources, the University College utilises the Campus billboard, the CN Social site and the CN Global Classroom. The Campus Billboard serves as a point of connection amongst the University College’s community to exchange information. The CN Social site is for students of the campus to connect with one another. While the CN Global Classroom pair learners based on their shared interest and subject areas. The initiative promotes multi-cultural learning experiences that students would not have otherwise, experienced in the typical classroom setting.

CN also offers both iPhone and Android mobile applications; and through these apps, students can source their networks on the go through a user-friendly interface. Students will have the opportunity to create their own learning communities through a tool called Conexus, which can be used to share learning materials or hold discussions.

“Maximising the use of CN at BERJAYA UCH is a more cost effective turnkey solution, global, social, and includes the next generation of LMS technology. As part of our strategic plan, BERJAYA UCH focuses on online, hybrid and MOOC courses which are important tools for both our students and lecturers to be able to connect with one another and to network with like-minded hospitality and tourism academics from around the world. CN is the only framework that offers both global academic networking and Learning Management System in one package,” comments Mae Ho, COO of BERJAYA UCH.
Dr Chan Chang Tik, Director for Teaching and Learning at BERJAYA UCH adds that “the general public and students who sign up for courses on topics of interest including MOOC are rewarded through a system that awards Anar Seeds (pomegranate seeds) based on their knowledge contributions and engagement in CN. A percentage of a course final grade, for example, can be based on the total number of Anar Seeds received in a given course.”

CN was founded in July 2011 by Professor Ali Jafari, who is serving as the conceptual architect and CEO of the company. Dr. Jafari conceptualized and founded three other learning environments and companies, including Oncourse (now Sakai), ANGEL Learning and Epsilen Environment.
